
York University Succeeds in Fraud Claim Against Former Executive

Following a lengthy trial, the Ontario Superior Court of Justice has determined that former York employees played key roles in several significant frauds.

Will McDowell, Nadia Campion, Dena Varah and Brian Kolenda of Lenczner Slaght acted as counsel to York University in the successful trial of a fraud action against a former York executive and a key subordinate.

The Court awarded York significant damages for fraud and breach of fiduciary duty. It also set aside a severance agreement with one of the two executives and the fraudulent conveyance of two of his homes. The decision will be of interest to organizations who seek to recover funds from former employees who are later discovered to have committed wrongdoing while employed.

Lenczner Slaght is widely recognized as Canada's leading litigation practice and has successfully represented clients' interests in complex, high-profile cases across the country. The firm's lawyers are distinguished by their depth of court room experience, appearing regularly at all levels of the federal and provincial courts and before professional and regulatory tribunals, as well as in mediation and arbitration proceedings.

The firm is known for its wealth of talent. Its partners, ranked among the best of their peers nationally, lead a recruitment and mentoring program that attracts gifted litigators who are committed to upholding the highest professional standards. From commercial disputes, class actions and cross-border disputes to administrative law and professional regulation, Lenczner Slaght brings expert strategy – backed by rigorous research, skilled data management and solid administrative support – to demanding cases in all areas of litigation.

For more information or to arrange an interview, please contact:

Nick Prospero, Coordinator
Marketing and Business Development, at (416) 865-9500 or prospero@litigate.com